9. Maintain decorum and engagement throughout the session
10. Thank speakers and attendees for their participation

Short Bio Data of the Session Chair :

Dr. Meenakshi Rana is a Professor in the Department of Mathematics and the Dean of Student Affairs at Thapar Institute of Engineering & Technology, Patiala, Punjab, India. She holds a Ph.D. and an M.Sc. (Hons.) in Mathematics (Number Theory) from Panjab University, Chandigarh. With a distinguished academic career spanning over two decades, Dr. Rana has taught undergraduate, postgraduate, and doctoral students. Her research interests include partitions and q-series, enumerative combinatorics, and number theory. On the teaching side, her interests focus on teaching and learning practices, pedagogy, and outcome-based education. She has published more than 50 research articles in reputed journals and has presented her work at numerous national and international conferences. Dr. Rana has successfully guided five Ph.D. scholars (with two more currently under supervision) and has mentored 16 M.Sc. dissertations. She has also organized three major international conferences in her domain, conducted various workshops/FDPs and symposiums related to her research areas, and completed three research projects funded by the Government of India through SERB/ANRF, NBHM, and CSIR. Dr. Rana is a trained educator and facilitator with a deep understanding of advanced teaching and learning processes. She is among the select faculty members who have been awarded the title of Thapar Teaching Fellow after completing the Special Certificate (SpCert) Program at Trinity College Dublin, Ireland. She has also participated in similar programs at George Mason University (USA) and the University of Queensland (Australia). Demonstrating her continued commitment to educational innovation, she recently completed two AI literacy courses from George Mason University, USA. In addition, she has conducted multiple faculty workshops at TIET & at other institutes aimed at enhancing pedagogical practices, particularly those related to outcome-based education and improving the overall teaching-learning experience. In addition to her academic and research contributions, Dr. Rana has undertaken several key administrative responsibilities within her institution. She has served on important committees such as the Internal Complaints Committee (ICC) and the Committee for Prevention of Unfair Means (CPUM), and has also held roles as the ISO Coordinator and NAAC Department Coordinator. Through these roles, she has actively contributed to fostering a smooth, efficient, and supportive environment for both faculty and students.
